PROJECT

SUBJECT: Mission of the Directorate for Science and Technology

TIME: 1100-1200

DATE: Tuesday, 19 April 1966

PLACE: Room 1A-07 Headquarters Building

METHOD OF PRESENTATION: Lecture with question period

OBJECTIVE(S): See Speaker Guidance Sheet

The purpose of this presentation will be to acquaint the students with the philosophy of the Directorate for Science and Technology in fulfilling its assigned mission to relate U.S. and foreign scientific developments to the intelligence objectives and programs of the CIA. Emphasis will be given to those activities in which the Directorate supports the U.S. military establishment and in which the Directorate requires the support of the Department of Defense to fulfill its mission. OSI, ORD, OEL and FMSAC will make individual presentations following the DD/S&T portion of the program. To the extent compatible with security restrictions, the DD/S&T will cover programs of the Directorate not encompassed in the missions of these four offices.

The presentation will emphasize case histories and practical examples to illustrate important points and will include a brief discussion of the impact of scientific and technical intelligence on U.S. policy.
